

I am concerned about the FCC's proposed possible replacement of current FM broadcasting with LPFM, especially with regard to National and Regional versus locally carried programming. In particular, I am concerned that one of the most helpful stations to me personally and in my immediate community of the Christian faith, K-Love, would possibly be forced off the air by such a conversion. I believe this would have a profoundly negative impact on my local community by removing a prime source of family-friendly broadcasting with news and current events perspectives that are both engaging and timely for perhaps 50% of the local population who are professing Christians. Moreover, I have often engaged in conversations with friends and neighbors who are frustrated with the foul language and base nature of most local programming. I therefore feel it would be in the community's best interest to retain FM Stations such as K-Love which offer a safe listening haven for families and bolstering for their values. I listen to K-Love at 94.3 FM. Thank you for the opportunity to comment on this matter.

Very truly yours,
